| Rationale for Selection of Criteria 3:Alignment to Mission                        | Pearl River Community College is an open enrollment institution inclusive of several student populations with diverse educational preparation, including students not considered college-ready, or those as young as fifteen years old from dual enrollment and dual credit programs, who enroll in English Composition I. Pearl River Community College offers English Composition I under two course numbers: ENG 1113, a three-credit-hour option for students with an ACT English subsection core of 17 or higher, and ENG 1114, a four-credit hour option for students with an ACT English subsection core of 16 or less. Both courses have the same catalog description and student learning outcomes (SLO's). Completion of English Composition I is required by all academic transfer students. In addition, all CTE programs awarding an Associate of Applied Science degree require completion of English Composition I. The College's mission states that it is "committed to providing quality educational and service opportunities for all who seek them." Therefore, measuring this gateway course completion rate as a part of measuring student achievement is appropriate and is an important measure of the success of the College. |                   |                |
| Threshold of Acceptability                                                            | Given the educational background and the reasons why students enroll in English Composition I, Pearl River Community College has established a benchmark threshold of 70% of students who will successfully pass the course with a grade of "D" or higher. Following national standards, student achievement is monitored by successful completion of courses with a passing grade.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                   |                |
